VOL. XVIII.] TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1817. [No. 5069.

For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in
Consumptions	the stomach and
Lowness of spirits	back

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

TO THE ROSE OF AUTUMN.

Gem of the mildly-closing year,
On nature's breast reclining!
Oh! who would leave thy wildness here
For bowers, in beauty shining?
Bloom then along thy native hill,
By no rude hand invaded;
Thy flowers, like hope, shall flourish still,
When all, but thine, have faded.

Go—wreathe the pensive form that lies
O'er love's last mansion blending,
And sinks, like day in summer skies,
Or evening's star descending:
Smile on her humble couch of rest—
And droop not thus in sorrow,
For sure the regions of the blest,
Shall be her home to-morrow.

Go—and with fading garlands bind
The dark, stern brow of madness!
And melt that joy-deserted mind
To more than childhood's sadness.
Tell her of him, whose lowly grave
Shall meet her dark eye, never:
His pillow is the stormy wave,
The deep his home, forever!

Then rest thee, autumn's lingering flower,
In life's last fragrance lying,
And droop along thy golden bower,
Still lovely, though in dying.
And thou shalt seem, while fading there
In ruin calm reposing,
Like virtue on this scene of care
Her weary eye-lids closing!

AGRICULTURAL.

WHEAT.

The following is condensed from a paper by Dr. Akerly published in the American Monthly Magazine.

An account of the Wheat Insect (Tipula Vaginalis Tritici), commonly, but erroneously called the Hessian Fly.

The Hessian Fly has only two wings, and is therefore of that class of insects, called Dipterous.—It is black, and small, not so large as a musquito, which it much resembles—It has two fine transparent wings, from the roots of which, three ribs diverge as through the leaf of a plant.

All insects undergo certain changes and tranformations which embarrass ordinary observers; being seen in different states, they are taken for different insects. These changes are four: 1. The ovum or egg. 2. The larva, maggot or caterpillar state, (this is its eating period.) 3. The crysalis, pupa, or dormant state. 4. The emago, butterfly, or perfect insect. All the other states are subordinate to this last—in this only does it become a parent, and with wonderful instinct, or rather directed by its maker deposits its egg on that substance, which, as food, will best suit the constitution of the future progeny. From the egg, by the warmth of the sun, is hatched the larva, worm or caterpillar, which after having attained its growth and performed all the functions appertaining to this form of being, becomes prepared to sleep away a portion of its short existence in the 3d or dormant state. It is then torpid, and thus continues generally through the winter, until resuscitated by the returning heat it is brought forth in a more resplendent state of existence, apparently partaking of higher enjoyments, and is the emago, the butterfly, or perfect insect.

The egg of the Wheat Tipula, or Hessian Fly, is generally deposited between the lowermost leaf of the wheat and the part which forms the main stalk or straw, as near the root as possible. It adheres closely to the straw. It resembles at first a very small white nit; and as it grows, becomes sluggish, and an almost inanimate maggot of a white colour. At this time, the most proper and natural food of the insect, is the sap or juice of that kind of green wheat which has the most delicate straw.—By imperceptible degrees it passes into the dormant or crysalis state;—it is then black or brownish, in some degree resembling flax-seed.

This tipula passes through two generations in a year. The egg is deposited in April—During the month of May and June it is in its larva or caterpillar state, and does its mischief. It becomes torpid or converted into a crysalis before harvest, and so continues through the months of July and August, and may be thus found until September if the stubble be suffered to stand. In September it becomes perfectly evolved, again deposits its eggs, becomes maggot in time to feed upon the wheat soon in the fall, and is torpid during the winter, ready to begin a new career in the spring. One generation commences in April and terminates in August, the other commences in September, and is finished by the ensuing spring.

These insects travel about thirty miles in a season, going in swarms and alighting in a body in a field of grain, which it injures in patches, as if attacked by different swarms. A dry summer, or a cold moist winter will kill them. Those, however, are not at our disposal: some of the following are:

Sowing late.—If the grain is sown early in Autumn, the insect has full time to deposit its eggs on the tender plant, and to undergo the changes into maggot and crysalis before winter.—By delaying as long as the season of sowing will permit, the time for these changes is shortened, and the egg or maggot are destroyed by the frost.

Cultivating Bearded Wheat.—This kind will not be so much injured as others, because it has a stronger stem and more juices.

High manuring.—This produces a strong and rapid growth: and it grows faster than the maggot can devour it.

Making use of a roller to crush the insect.—This ought to be done early in the spring or just after harvest, or late in the fall. At these times the insect is tender, and is easily crushed.

Ploughing up the stubble directly after harvest.—This buries the insect and it dies—The deeper the ploughing the better.

Burning the stubble.—If the stubble be entirely burned, the insect must be destroyed. But it nestles very close to the root, and therefore the fire must be well applied or the insect will escape.

THE HALF IS MORE THAN THE WHOLE.

This paradox is capable of being solved several ways, of which the following is one:—

A farmer possessed of a farm too large for his means of cultivation, doth of course cultivate but poorly.—Here and there, a spot or field, he bestows pains upon, and renders it productive; but the rests he neglects, being scanted for labor and capital—Now, if he sell half, and apply the avails thereof to the improvement of the remainder, it will bring him more clear profit than did the whole.—Even its products will be greater, and at the same time, its expences of fencing and cropping will be lessened and his cares lightened. This has been tested by experience in some instances, and in a great many more instances it might be done to excellent advantage.

Farmers are too apt to think their farms insufficient unless they are large, and either, for more land, incur debts which eventually swallow up the whole, or exchange their domains for an abundance of forest. In both cases, they often miss the true mark.—Generally, the better way is, to increase the fertility, rather than the quantity of the farm one possesseth, to make every acre, and if possible, every rod of it prolific and productive. And would our farmers all do it, but few of them would need more land, or be constrained to barter that which they have for dreary acres in the wilderness.

It were happy indeed if the spirit of emigration were changed at least in part to a general zeal for Agricultural improvement at home. Then our towns and villages, instead of being deserted, might even experience a great increase of inhabitants, along with a correspondent increase of social comforts and privileges, and the mean while enjoy nearly all a competence, and a moderate independence. Nothing seems wanting for that desirable consummation but the thing already mentioned, together with general industry and prudent economy. With the industry and frugal habits of our forefathers, no one can tell how great a population Connecticut alone might sustain, nor how happy a one. At home her enterprizing sons might find the comforts of life, which so many ramble far abroad in quest and find them too in the bosom of civilization, sweetened by social intercourse, and exalted by surrounding advantages for intellectual, moral, and religious improvement.

Extract of a letter to the editor of the Richmond Patriot, dated Natchez, October 13, 1817.

"Of all the plagues I ever heard, we have one that exceeds them. The yellow fever has raged so in this place, that three fourths, or at least two thirds, of the inhabitants have left the place, and there are not enough to attend the sick and bury the dead. The poor wretches are found dead in their houses by themselves, and it is difficult to get any one to lay them out and put them in the ground.—Almost all the stores are shut up, and the post-office is only open two or three hours on mail days. It is such awful times that not a dollar enters the town, except to get some necessary that cannot be dispensed with."

Extract of a letter from New-Orleans, dated October 7, to a gentleman in N. York.

"Business has been, in a measure, suspended for the last two months, owing to the prevalence of an epidemick, which still continues with little abatement. A vast number of persons are absent from the city in consequence of this calamity. The deaths since the beginning of Aug. have been about seven hundred."

Charleston, Nov. 3.

Mortality at Savannah.—A letter received yesterday from Savannah, dated 31st ult. says, "The sexton told me yesterday he had buried 124 persons this month, and including this day, in all probability the number will be 130 for the month of October; and this in a population which is not supposed in its present reduced state to exceed 2,800 or 3,000 souls." [Courier.

A letter received at New-York from Nassau, N. P. dated October 9, states that Sir Gregor M'Gregor and colonel Woodbine had arrived there from Amelia Island. [Ibid.

From Fayetteville, October 29.—Cotton sold yesterday at 30 cents cash, and is much looked for—flour 7 a 7½. There is very little tobacco coming in yet. [Ib.

Cotton is quoted at Augusta, on the 28th ult. at 30 a 31½ cents; flour 6 a 8 dollars; tobacco 5 a 6 dollars. [Ibid.

Wheat is now selling in the district of Maine, at seventy-five cents per bushel.

Columbia, S. C. Nov. 4.

Major Bradford, of the United States' army was dispatched about the middle of September to establish a military post on the Arkansas river, near the Osage boundary line. His object ostensibly is to remove squatters on the United States' lands. Other reasons may have their weight. The Indians have become very restless, and seem anxious to indulge their savage propensity by embruing their tomahawks in the blood of the white men. A military post on that river may be necessary to intimidate them; or, should they break out into open hostility, to protect and guard our frontier citizens.

We learn from a source entitled to credit, that the Seminole Indians have refused to comply with the demand of general Gaines, requiring the surrender of the murderers of our citizens on the St. Mary's River last spring; and that they justify the conduct of their people on the score of retaliation, alleging that the whites were the first aggressors. A rupture with them is consequently unavoidable; and the drafts from this state should immediately prepare for a short campaign, as their services will probably be wanted. [Georgia Journal.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

It is stated in the Nantucket Gazette that captain Weeks, of the ship Martha, who left Valparaiso on the 11th of July and arrived at Edgartown on the 20th ult. touched at Rio Grande on the 6th of September, where it was reported that a second revolt had taken place in Pernambuco, and that the city was in possession of the Patriots. The ship Enterprize, captain Coffin, of Philadelphia, from Juan Fernandez, arrived at Valparaiso 9th July, with the garrison from that place, who had given themselves up to the Patriots. [N. Y. Com. Adver.

The trial before the United States' circuit court in Boston of three men belonging to the South American privateer Congresso, who were indicted on a charge of piracy, closed on Tuesday evening. The jury, after a short consultation, returned a verdict of Not Guilty. [Ibid.

The French papers, by the Lucy Ann from Bordeaux, announce the dangerous illness of the king of Naples. They also mention, under the Marseilles head of September the 20th, that the American squadron in the Road of Naples had given a splendid entertainment to a British admiral, and that the admiral, in return of the civility, had given to the American officers an entertainment of equal splendor. [Ibid.

A letter from Madrid says, the king has agreed to abolish the slave trade for a million of dollars, to be paid by England—that Great Britain is negociating for the island of Cuba, in payment for her claims, amounting to 60 or 70 millions of dollars; that a public order was issued for the release of Mr. Meade; and a private order for his detention.

We learn by passengers in the Tybee, that an order had been published at Brussels, by the king of Holland, announcing that in future no passports would be granted to Frenchmen to leave the country. [New-York Mer. Ad.

FROM HAVANA.

A passenger in the William Henry, 15 days from Havana, informs, that it was currently reported at that place that the patriot Gen. Mina had been defeated in Mexico, and that he had effected his escape with only about 200 of his followers. A large fleet of merchantmen sailed for Spain about the 15th ult. Several Guineamen had recently arrived with large cargoes of slaves, and had overstocked the market. The corvette Gen. Scott was fitting out for a cruiser the Young Wasp was laid up. [Ibid.

COMMERCIAL.

Extract of a letter from a respectable house in London, dated 27th Sept.

"We feel much hesitation in recommending operations in cotton—we do not know how to calculate the duration of the causes which have produced our present immense consumption; & immense as it is, we doubt whether high prices will not draw an immense supply. We are assured, that orders have been sent for Surat cotton, limited at 15d—similar to which has been imported this year, at 7d. Some think that if these high prices are given, the supply from India will be almost infinite."

Extract of a letter dated London, September 27.

"Since Cobbett's retreat even the grumblers against the internal system of finance are silent. The late demand for manufactured articles, and consequent speculations, have advanced goods 10 to 20 per cent—all hands are now actively employed in supplying the demand, and many a poor being is now smiling in comfort who a few weeks ago was groaning in despair. The price of labor is every where advanced, and the raw materials for manufacturing scarce, and getting higher, viz. wool, cotton, indigo, &c."

Plattsburg, October 25.

The barracks built during the late war at Burlington, Vt. have recently been taken down and transported to Rous's Point, where extensive military works are erecting by the United States.

Michigan University.—We learn from the Detroit paper that the citizens of that city have set out with spirit to establish a university. A subscription was opened and upwards of 1,000*l.* subscribed the first day. The buildings have already been commenced, and the first hall is expected to be complete the present autumn.

The interdiction of colonial produce, &c. in Sweden, has not prevented its use, but has raised the price, as it is now smuggled. The drinking of coffee being prohibited, it is now called soup, and eaten with a spoon.

CHAPTER I.

Upton reluctant from the dozy cave,
The ponderous anchor rises o'er the wave.

FALCONER.

The signal for sailing was hoisted on Sunday morning the 6th of ——, 1815; and all hands moved with alacrity to make the necessary preparations. Pleasure, hope, regret, and care were depicted on every face. There are few who are not willing to exchange indolence for activity—few whom ambition or novelty will not excite; but the ardent son of adventure, before he enters on the bright career his hopes have pointed out, must pay a mournful tribute to the friends he must leave, and the pleasures he must resign.

The wharves were covered with spectators, attracted by curiosity or interest to witness our departure; while our decks were crowded with the friends and relations of the officers and men, whose affectionate adieus and honest wishes mingled their soothing notes with the hoarse din of vociferation and bustle. I alone had leisure to gaze on the scene without emotion. My friends—my relations were far distant; and my affections, which were exclusively theirs, slept in my bosom,

"And the spirit becalmed but remember'd their pow'r,
As the billow the force of the gale that has fled."

The claims of politeness were easily fulfilled at a spot where I had no favors to repay, no friendships to acknowledge, and no affections to return:—a few only, the sunshine acquaintance of a moment, claimed a momentary regret. It is so seldom that my passions sleep at a time of general disturbance, or common sympathy, that I enjoyed with peculiar interest the calm that enabled me to speculate upon those of others.—My moment of separation had already passed—and although still in my native country, I had for some time been deprived of the comforts of home, a stranger to kindness, and a wanderer from the caresses of my friends.

At two o'clock, the captain gave orders to "get under way;" we proceeded under easy sail out of the harbor and having discharged our pilot, the canvass wings that remained unfurled, were all expanded to catch the friendly breeze which now bore us rapidly down the bay. The town, sinking gradually from our sight, appeared but as a confused heap in the perspective, and at last faded to a diminutive speck which soon sunk in the horizon. The sun too set about the same time, and twilight shutting the land from our view, left us completely desolate, deprived at once of our country, and of the light of Heaven!

The night was clear and the wind which still continued to blow strong, caused a considerable sea. About eight o'clock in the evening, Cape Cod light house appeared on our starboard beam about fifteen miles distant, which we soon lost, steering away East by South. I beheld the last rays that glimmered from the light house with emotions similar to those which must have impressed the parents of our race when they first saw the glorious sun sink in the horizon—the last vestige of my country was sinking, perhaps forever from my view. That little light contained at once, friends, country, home—and "the bosom friend dearer than all," and love, affection and regret each struggled in the sight that bade it farewell. It sunk—but as the cheerful sun is sent by a merciful Providence to irradiate a sunless night, adventure, hope, glory, rose upon the benighted mind to cheer its desolation.

CHAPTER II.

"None of your half laughs and Purser's grins."

SEA PHRASE.

7. The next morning proved to be fine and a favourable wind was carrying us fast towards our destination.

The prospect was novel and sublime. There was something charming in the idea of being able to cast the eye around on all sides without obstruction, and of inhaling a free and untainted atmosphere. But it was a charm that soon ceased to operate—the feet are as fond of wandering as the eye, and the mind must inhale refreshment as well as the body. "The boundless ocean roaring wide" ceased to afford interest as soon as the suggestion arose that it was to be enjoyed at the expense of exile and imprisonment. No one loves the food to which he is forced, or the spot to which he is confined. There was besides no interest in the scene after it was once viewed—and there was but little pleasure in anticipation of seeing salt water, and eating salt pork by the month.

Among our crew were several landsmen and boys who now began to pay to Neptune the usual tribute, to the infinite amusement of the sailors who indulged in a great variety of coarse jokes on the occasion. Even some who had been at sea before were affected with sea sickness.—As I was the only officer on board likely to be placed in this disagreeable situation, and as sailors take a particular delight in seeing soldiers placed in a ludicrous point of view, I was regarded with much scrutiny as an object likely to afford considerable amusement. The officers seemed to feel a peculiar interest for me, which they evinced by frequent enquiries as to how I felt. I allowed them to enjoy their "half laughs," and determined if possible to frustrate their anticipated mirth by concealing any nausea that I might feel. I escaped however without any other disagreeable sensation than a dizziness occasioned by the motion of the vessel; and my companions, although disappointed in their expectations of amusing themselves at the expense of a "soldier adrift," were I believe sincere in the friendly congratulations with which they greeted me.

During the night the wind continued rising until it blew very strong, the motion of the vessel was considerably increased, and her decks covered with water.

Aug. 8. The next morning the wind began to die away, and in the afternoon it became perfectly calm. This is one of the most disagreeable circumstances which occur at sea, and is particularly so when the ocean has been agitated by a heavy wind. While there is sufficient wind to fill the sails, the vessel is kept steady: and impelled forward by the breeze, rides over the wave with an uniform motion, by no means disagreeable. But when the canvass is no longer filled and the helm becomes useless, the vessel falls into the trough of the sea and rolls from side to side with a tremendous motion. "Now for it, soldier!" said one of the lieutenants, and again I became the object of anticipated amusement—for of all the freaks of old Neptune, a calm creates the most disgust in a young voyager. I do not know how it happened—but I still escaped and laughed in my turn at the disappointed expectations of my companions. I certainly however experienced a disagreeable sensation.—The constant motion of the vessel, and the tossing of the waves in every direction, without having any permanent object to relieve the eye, caused a feeling which a favorite author of mine would have termed a hallucination of the brain. I felt giddy—my head whirled, and my brain was confused—while this lasted, which was for several days I could neither read, write nor enjoy myself. I still however was in good spirits and made myself quite at home; so that my companions in misery—for I can call the mates of a ship no other—observed that although no sailor, I was an old man-o'-war-sman." I had been at camp, and could eat salt junk, drink dirty water, or nestle composedly in a thick settlement of bed bugs, as well as the best of them.

Land for Sale.

IF early application is made, I will dispose of 400 acres of the CEDAR GROVE tract of land. There is surplus timber and fire wood enough on the part I purpose selling to pay, with judicious management, more than half the purchase money, at the price I ask. The situation is healthy, and the land fertile. Contiguity to market is also among its advantages; it being within less than a mile of Mr. Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price may be had for grain. Persons wishing to purchase will apply to the subscriber, residing at Cedar Grove, ten miles below Alexandria, and one below Janney's mill.

A valuable Farm for Sale.

THE SUBSCRIBER will sell, on reasonable terms, a valuable and productive farm of 600 acres, or thereabouts—being part of the lands of the late Richard Brent, lying on Kettle Run in the county of Prince William, in the state of Virginia—20 miles from the Occoquan Mills—33 miles from Alexandria, and about the same distance from Georgetown and the City of Washington. This farm lies in the centre of an excellent neighborhood—is handsomely situated—abundantly watered, and has upon it an ample proportion of wood. The soil is naturally strong, and a considerable portion of it has for some years past, been cultivated according to the most approved rules of modern husbandry—Possession will be given on the first day of January next. The terms upon which this property will be sold, will be made known upon application to George L. Brent, of Stafford County, Va. or to the subscriber living in Alexandria.

Sully for Sale.

THIS estate, situated in the county of Fairfax, twenty two miles from Alexandria, and the same distance from Georgetown, contains about seven hundred and fifty acres. Little River Turnpike passes through it half a mile from the dwelling house. The situation is handsome, and remarkably healthy; the water is good and abundant. The soil which was originally excellent, has for some years past had the advantage of improving husbandry, Plaister of Paris acting with powerful and immediate effect on all grasses and grains. The fields present a good surface for cultivation, and those, now untilled, are covered with red clover. The orchards are very large and thrifty; the collection of table fruit is choice and various. The mansion is spacious and well constructed: the outhouses are conveniently situated, and the whole have been lately thoroughly repaired and painted. The farm houses, which are all nearly new, are expensive and excellent in their kind.

For a gentleman of leisure this would be a delightful residence; and a profitable estate for an active farmer. The title is indisputable, and perfectly unincumbered.

A number of well taught orderly young men, with good stocks and farming utensils of all kinds, and the crops of the present year, if desired, will be at the command of the purchaser.

Application may be made to the subscriber living on the premises, next the post-office at Pleasant Valley, in Fairfax.

For Sale,

A TRACT of land, lying on the North Fork of Quantico Creek, and only two miles from the town of Dumfries, (known by the name of Clifton) containing about 230 acres. About two thirds of this tract is in wood—a part of the cleared land well enclosed. There is on this tract a good dwelling house, stables, &c; and convenient to the dwelling house a grist mill, containing two pair of stones—one of burr, new, five feet diameter; the other Cologne. The mill is lately built. Every part of the gear new, and completely fitted for merchant work. The mill better secured from floods than any I am acquainted with, having but 3 feet of dam, with a short race, to admit of fall for a twenty-four feet overshot water wheel. In fact, the land is of good quality; the situation handsome and healthy; the stream a good one; and the mill new, spacious, and well finished, and lying in the most direct road for a great part of the produce that comes to Dumfries to pass it. Possession can be had immediately, and the terms known by application to me, at Dumfries.

Notice

To the Creditors of the Family of Geo CARTER, deceased.

Gentlemen,

IT has become expedient for me to solicit of you further time in which I may discharge the balances yet due to you; and mea while that you would forbear to institute suits. Such indulgence, if you grant it, will facilitate and hasten the voluntary discharge of debts, which, before I assumed them, you are sensible that I could not have been legally compelled to pay. For inducement to such lenity, permit me to point out the fund whence your claims shall be acquitted, and also the time when. The time, if you consent to forbear the institution of suits, (which imply delay and unnecessary cost) shall not exceed six months from this date. The fund accrues from the result of the final decree rendered in Nov. 1816, in the case of Carter and others against Cutting and others, by the operation of which more than fifty thousand dollars, principal and interest and costs, have been adjudged due to this family. My undisputed and indisputable interest, in a portion of this fund, is adequate, and shall by me be applied to satisfy all your demands upon this family. The original amount of those demands you know that I have diminished by repeated payments heretofore made; and recently, by an assignment of three years' rents of the Parke Estate; and finally, by the absolute sale of my own slaves to exonerate those of minors, that otherwise could not have been delivered to the young owners. Moreover, in proof of my zeal to obtain proper means for the extinction of your just demands against the family of my adoption, I can, without ostentation, refer you to the unwearied toil and prudence of my general proceedings, which indeed have not been relaxed during the past ten years. Not one of you, I think, will deny, that my course has been marked by an inflexible adherence to justice, self-denial, industry and frugality—humble qualities (it is true) and often neglected by lofty people; yet nevertheless, which persons, in circumstances of mediocrity, appreciate on account of their moral utility; qualities that for such as exercise them, ensure ultimate fidelity to engagements, and which are peculiarly estimable in correct debtors, because they both cherish the ability and evince the resolution to satisfy their just creditors.

Twenty Dollars Reward

RAN AWAY from William Galt, near Fredericktown, on the Lancaster road, in April last, a Negro Woman, named JULIET, about 30 years of age, 5 feet high, has lost several of her upper fore teeth, speaks quick & sharp—says she was sold by a Mr. Darby, of Anne-Arundel county, to some Georgia traders whom she left near Richmond, Va. and was lodged in Fredericktown jail, from whence she was sold for her jail fees, & purchased by John P. Thompson, and by him sold to William Galt—It is supposed she is now lurking about the district of Columbia or its vicinity.—The above reward will be paid for apprehending and securing her so that I get her.

Fifty Dollars Reward

RAN AWAY, on Saturday evening, the 11th inst. my mulatto man, named NED, commonly called NED M'RAE alias SHAWNO. He is about 23 or 24 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, and was raised in Manchester. Ned is well made, high forehead and large flat nose: had on when he went away a grey coat and pantaloons, but as he was well provided with cloathing of various kinds, it is probable he may have changed his dress. It is believed he went off with his wife, who it appears left Richmond at the same time: she is very black, and, I believe, somewhat pitted with the small pox, talks a great deal, of short stature, and rather thick made. Ned is very artful, and may probably attempt to pass for a free man; he has a down look when spoken to. The above reward will be given if taken out of Richmond or Manchester, and twenty-five dollars if taken in either place, and all reasonable expenses paid for delivering him to the subscriber. John Jackson & Co.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation of various disgrees complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions
Lowness of spirits	Indigestion
